DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1, and 4-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 recites the limitation "the pollution source" in line 2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 4, 6-8, 14, 15, and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Nakao (2003/0050005). Nakao discloses a self contained ventilator (storage system for a clean room) and includes a housing having a support member (6 & 7) for supporting a pollution source (semiconductor wafers) and a filter (meshed grating floor 1) below the support member which inherently filters some portion of the air passing through, the filter (1) and the lower portion of the housing anticipate the applicants first converging room (R2), the housing has a distributor (4) with openings for the passage of air therethrough, a conduit (Q) connecting the converging room to an upper portion of the housing (SEE Figure 1) and a fan (F) for generating an airflow that entrains contaminants and follows the flow path, the distributor and an upper portion of the housing cooperate to anticipate the applicants diverging room (3), and furthermore a compartment (R1) with the support member.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 11, 16, 17, and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nakao (2003/0050005). Nakao discloses the applicants primary inventive concept as stated above but does not specifically recite the ventilator being mounted on a rolling structure. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide wheels on the ventilator housing for portability as evidenced by Grundy (5,944,602), since it has been held that making an article portable or movable without producing any new and unexpected result involves only routine skill in the art.

Claims 5, 12, and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nakao in view of an Examiner's Statement of Official Notice. The invention of Nakao discloses a storage system for a clean room in which semiconductor wafers are stored, access to these semiconductor wafers are not shown, but the examiner takes official notice that although not shown, Nakao teaches an access opening (ie: door) for providing entry and removal of the semiconductor wafers and a person having ordinary skill in the art would have found it obvious to incorporate a door for this purpose. With regard to claim 5, it would have been obvious to provide an active carbon filter as the filter of choice since the examiner takes Official Notice that active carbon filters are notoriously well known with regard to filtration of air and would be within the level of ordinary skill in the art.

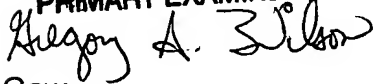

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Gregory A. Wilson whose telephone number is (571)272-4882. The examiner can normally be reached on 7 am - 4:30 pm EST.
